This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTRODUCTION.

In the compilation of this catalogue, I have with advantage utilized the notes collected by my predecessor, Mr. F. D. O. OBREEN, and the additions made to them by Mr. C. G. 'T HOOFT, Sub-Director of the National Museum of pictures, from 16 Febr. 1897 to 1 March 1898. I have also largely drawn from the catalogue compiled in 1885 by Mr. BREDIUS, a most useful work which, in 1897, had already reached its fifth edition.

Before proceeding, I wish to express my indebtedness to those persons who have assisted me in my task, in the first place to Mr. W. J. STEENHOFF, sub-Director of the State Museum, for his intelligent collaboration, and to Mr. J. PH. VAN DER KELLEN, who, besides supplying me with other valuable information, has pointed out to me, among the 900 masters represented in the Museum, those who were at the same time Etchers and Engravers. I particularly wish to acknowledge my obligation to Mr. E. W. MOES, for numerous interesting details concerning the lives of artists, the origin of pictures and their various reproductions; to Messrs Jhr. J. SIX, J. PH. VAN DER KELLEN DZN. and Jhr. J. F. BACKER, for their assistance in the elucidation of several obscure questions, and to tender my thanks to Messrs A. PIT and JAN KALF, for their valuable aid in all matters concerned with the works derived from the Dutch Museum.

It is further my pleasing duty to mention the names of the following gentlemen, to whom I owe numerous interesting data: the late Mr. J. H. MASCHHAUPT, Professor AUG. ALLEBÉ, Jhr. V. DE STUERS, Mr. C. J. GONNET, Keeper of State archives; Mr. JOH. E. ELIAS and Mr. JOH. F. HULK; Messrs. A. BREDIUS, HENRY HYMANS, of Brussels; CORRADO RICCI, of Florence; GEORGE C. WILLIAMSON, of Guildford; LIONEL CUST, of Windsor; A. BOPPE, Consul general of the French republic at Jerusalem; His Excellency H. MISSAK EFFENDI, at the Hague; OLOF GRANBERG, of Stockholm; Messrs S. MULLER FZN., J. A. FEITH, J. L. BERNS, J. L. VAN DALEN, W. R. VEDER, H. T. COLENBRANDER, J. H. W. UNGER, Dr. JOH. C. BREEN, archivists; the secretary of the high court of nobility (Herald's Office), Jhr. D. RUTGERS VAN ROZENBURG; Colonel F. DE BAS; Messrs G. MURRAY BAKKER, C. W. BRUINVIS, P. D. DE VOS, P. HAVERKORN VAN RIJSEWIJK, S. VAN GIJN, Baron E. C. U. CALKOEN, W. MARTIN, E. VAN BIEMA and many others.

The articles published by Dr. C. HOFSTEDE DE GROOT, in the review "Oud-Holland", dealing with some of the pictures in the State Museum, and those of Mr. G. MURRAY BAKKER, referring to the portraits formerly in the castle of Honselaarsdijk, have also been of much use to me.

Assisted by Mr. J. A. BOLAND, I have carefully re-examined the signatures and the inscriptions on the pictures dating from before 1800, of which new tracings were made by this gentleman. By this revision, which in many instances led to surprising results, it was clearly demonstrated that many of the fac-similes of the signatures in the official catalogue of 1881, were but very imperfect copies of the originals.

I am greatly indebted to Mrs. LOUISE GRANDINET—DE GROOT for the translation of the catalogue into English.

The so-called "Amsterdamsche Schuttersstukken" (paintings representing military corporations), have also been revised in conjunction with Professor Jhr. J. SIX, whose annotations on the said pictures, published in "Oud-Holland", have been inserted in this catalogue.

EXPLANATION OF THE ABBREVIATIONS USED IN THIS WORK.

The dimensions given are those of the painted part of the canvas or panel and do not extend to the frame. The surface measure is expressed in yards and inches, the height being indicated first.

The terms right and left are used with reference to the right and left of the spectator.

h. f.	signifies	height of the figure nearest to the foreground.
h. h.	„	height of head of the figure nearest to the foreground.
nat. size	„	natural size.
O.	„	oak.
M.	„	mahogany.
C.	„	canvas.
COP.	„	copper.
Ov.	„	oval.
P.	„	pastel.
Pap.	„	paper.
Ca.	„	card-board.
En.	„	enamel.

The letters printed in large type at the end of the biographical notices, indicate that the artists to whom they refer, were or are also Engravers, Lithographers, etc.

They are to be interpreted as follows:

B. Engraver au Burin.
MT. „ in Mezzotinto.
AT. „ „ Aquatinto.
W. „ on wood.
E. Etcher.
L. Lithographer.

The union of two or more of these initials implies that the artist exercised the several forms of art for which they stand.

EXTRACTS FROM THE STATUTES AND REGULATIONS OF THE MUSEUM.

ART. 48.

The Museum is open to the public, free of charge, on every week-day: from Nov. 16th until Febr. 15th, from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M.; from Febr. 16th until April 30th, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M.; from May 1st until Sept. 30th, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M.; from Oct. 1st until Nov. 15th, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. On Sundays and holidays, the Museum opens at 12½ P.M. and closes at the usual time.

The Museum is closed on New Year's day and on Mondays from Nov. 1st until March 31st.

ART. 55.

Visitors are freely allowed to make sketches in pencil or chalk; but in cases where the copying requires special apparatus, it is necessary first to obtain permission from the keeper of the collection to which the work in question belongs.

Permission for the reproduction by Engravings, Etchings, Photographs or Casts is only given on the understanding that six copies of the reproduction shall be presented gratis to the Museum.

ART. 56.

Application for the above-mentioned authorisation must be made in writing and the work of Art, for which the request is made, clearly indicated.

The order granted by the keeper is not transferable and is valid for the term of two months from the date of issue. An extension of time may be obtained by applying, by letter, to the keeper.

The Chief-Director of the Museum has the right to cancel the order before the expiration of the time specified, for any reason he may deem expedient.

ART. 57.

Every person to whom the order described in Art. 56, has been granted, is required, before starting on his work, to present this order to the Chief-Director and to have his name, profession and address inscribed in a register kept for this purpose, together with the title of the work he desires to copy, the size of the intended reproduction and the date of the authorisation.

ART. 58.

The copied work must be removed from the Museum within a fortnight after its completion, the artist having previously satisfied the keeper as to his right to the copy.

ART. 60.

Copies or studies which shall not have been removed within the space of six months after the expiration of the time fixed by Art. 56, become the property of the Museum.

ART. 61.

Should the application alluded to in the first paragraph of Art. 56, refer to objects which are lent to the Museum, permission to copy cannot be granted until the consent of the owner has been obtained.

HISTORICAL ACCOUNT OF THE ORIGIN AND GROWTH OF THE COLLECTIONS.

The foundation of the Museum dates from 1808, the year in which King Louis-Napoleon transferred his court from Utrecht to Amsterdam, with the intention of making the capital of his Kingdom the centre of Art and Learning. A Royal Warrant dated April 21st of the same year ordained the establishment of a „Grand Musée Royal" for the collection and preservation of pictures, drawings, sculptures, chased-work, gems, antiquities and works of Art of all kind.

The Museum was inaugurated in one large room, two smaller ones and two closets of the former Town Hall of Amsterdam which, in the mean time, had become the Royal Palace. And by decree of August 25th 1808, Mr. C. APOSTOOL was appointed its custodian.

The initial collection comprised:

1°. 65 pictures bought at the sale VAN DER POT VAN CROENEVELD, at Rotterdam, on June 6th 1808.

2. 59 paintings sent from The Hague on July 30th and August 2d and 4th, and further 166 pictures forwarded from the same town, Dec. 22d 1808, which had formed part of the National Museum of The Hague, founded in 1798. The greater part of this collection consisted of pictures from the Gallery of PRINCE WILLIAM V, at least of that portion of it which had not been carried off to France; the others had been collected from different public buildings. To these were added several works recently acquired.

3°. 7 paintings conceded by the town of Amsterdam, namely: "The Nightwatch" and "The Syndics of the Cloth Hall" of REMBRANDT; "the Banquet of the Civic Guard" and the "Umpires of the Brotherhood of St. Sebastian," of VAN DER HELST; the "Fête of the Civic Guard of Amsterdam, in celebration of the peace of Munster in 1648", of GOVERT FLINCK; the "IJ before Amsterdam," of W. VAN DER VELDE THE YOUNGER, and "Governors of the House of correction", of KAREL DUJARDIN.

4°. 10 pictures by modern artists selected from an exhibition held in these rooms in August of the same year.

5°. 6 pictures and two statues presented to King Louis by Commander BARON VAN SPAEN VAN BILJOEN.

6°. 5 studies, the work of Royal Students at Paris, besides a drawing by CUYP.

7°. Several show cases containing models of medals, cameos and intaglios and plaster casts from sculptures in the "Musée Napoléon", and —

Finally, several specimens of casts from mouldings, medals and gems.

In 1809 the Museum acquired the picture gallery VAN HETEREN, from his heir, Mr. A. L. GEVERS, for the sum of 100.000 guilders. In the same year the collection was further enriched by 137 pictures, for the greater part of intrinsic artistic value; and of paintings bought at the sale of Mrs. BICKER. Early in 1810 the collection of Medals was transferred from the Hague to Amsterdam and also placed under the care of Mr. C. APOSTOOL.

The abdication of King Louis, which took place on July 1st 1810, greatly damaged the growth of the budding institution. Although after the annexation of Holland to the Empire, the Museum continued to exist under the name of "Hollandsch Museum", it was in no wise supported by the State. The town of Amsterdam was, for the time being, charged with its maintenance and for this purpose authorized to deduct 10 % from the local taxes; but the proposal of the municipal council, to remove the collection to the "Trippenhuis" could not be acted upon until 1815.

When the country had regained its National Independence, the Sovereign Prince, soon after his accession, displayed the greatest sollicitude for the promotion and encouragement of Art. The Museum became a State institution, and a considerable sum was voted for the purchase of pictures at the sales of Mrs. BOREEL and Mrs. WESSELS REYERS.

The appellation "Hollandsch Museum" was first converted into: "'s Lands Museum van Schilderijen en Penningen" (National Museum of Pictures, Coins and Medals); but in 1815 the Institution definitively received the name of: Rijks Museum van Schilderijen en Penningen (State Museum of Pictures, Coins and Medals).

In the course of the following year the Medals were transferred from the "Trippenhuis" to the Royal Library at the Hague, in order to make room for the collection of Prints; but no other changes took place until 1825, when, with a few exceptions, all the sculptures and antiquities were sent to the Hague and Leyden.

Nothwithstanding the fact that the bequest of 22 portraits, made in 1823 by Mrs. BALGUERIE, née VAN RIJSWIJK, had been accepted, the pictures had not been joined to the Gallery, because, at the time, they were deemed devoid of artistic value. Subsequently, however, it was found that some of the portraits were real works of art, and they were placed in that division of the collection to which, even to-day, they form a considerable attraction.

In 1825 the State Museum exchanged six of its pictures against three from the Royal Gallery at the Hague. The pictures taken in exchange were: 1. "Cimon and Pera", or "Roman Charity", by RUBENS; 2. the "Portrait of Nicolaes van der Borght", bij ANTH. VAN DIJCK; 3. the "Bearhunt", of PAULUS POTTER.

On the 5th of August 1828 the Museum disposed of 25 pictures which, according to the account, were of indifferent value and signed by artists already sufficiently represented. The object of this sale was partly to make room for works of contemporary artists, and partly to obtain the necessary funds for the purchase of works by masters who had not yet found a place in the collection. The sale realised 22.700 guilders, which, for that time, was a considerable sum, and proves that the pictures put up for auction were important works of Art. A WOUWERMAN fetched 4000 guilders, whilst by this transaction the Museum lost a painting of AERT DE GELDER, an artist of whose works it possesses, even at the present day, but few and barely adequate examples.

This money was expended on the purchase of pictures at sales held by BRENTANO and G. MULLER, and, later, on the acquisition of famous works of Art in Paris and other places, so that in the space of 14 years the sum of 50.000 guilders was spent exclusively on Old Masters.

This season of comparative prosperity came suddenly to a close in 1830, at the outbreak of the Revolution in Belgium. It was followed by a period of depression and stagnation which lasted about half a century. During that interval no important purchases were made, owing to the scarcity of funds; even the amount of money granted for the maintenance of the Museum was insignificant and insufficient.

In the mean time, however, the Museum underwent some important modifications. Almost the entire collection of modern pictures was removed in 1838, in pursuance of an Ordinance (1828) of King William 1st, which directed the Pavilion "Welgelegen" near Harlem to be used as a Gallery for the works of contemporary Dutch artists, and the pictures of recent date, then in the National Museums of Amsterdam and the Hague, to be transferred thither.

The stress of political events caused this Ordinance to remain ineffective for ten years and it was only on August 9th 1838, that 60 modern pictures from the Gallery at Amsterdam and 143 from that of the Hague were dispatched to Harlem. In 1848 a second transfer took place and the combined collections were placed under the superintendence of the Directors of the National Museums of Amsterdam and the Hague, whilst the daily supervision was entrusted to an attendant. Originally it had been stipulated that, within five years from the death of an artist, whose works had been transferred to the Pavilion, these works should be returned to the Museum from which they had been taken; but for various reasons this injunction was only complied with in a very few instances.

In 1860 the Museum disposed by auction of 65 pictures of no great artistic value, by artists of whom it already possessed more important works. The amount realised was very small and disappointing. It would appear that, even as in 1828, this sale was necessitated through want of space in the Gallery. For the same reason on April 30th 1878, 74 pictures were sold, 5 were lent to different public institutions and 32 views of the isle of Java were transferred to the State-Museum of Ethnography at Leyden. In 1828 two pictures bought at an exhibition were added to the Gallery, and these purchases were followed by several others in 1861 and 1862. Since 1866, with a certain regularity, pictures were bought at exhibitions of the works of contemporaneous artists. This regulation remained in force even after the picture gallery had been transferred, in 1885, to the State Museum until 1889.

If during the long period comprised between the years 1830 and 1875 but few old masters had been added to the gallery by purchase, its value had notwithstanding in the mean time been greatly increased by several important donations and bequests. Among others it acquired the "Portrait of Ferdinand Bol", bequeathed by Mr. A. BRONDGEEST, "a View of Antwerp", signed J. WILDENS, presented by JHR. J. P. SIX, and — the very valuable bequest of the picture gallery of Mr. L. DUPPER Wz., consisting of 64 works of the most famous masters. The gem of this gallery was the Rombouts' collection, to which the donor had added several new and very fine works.

In 1873, the Museum received from Miss M. A. LIOTARD, a bequest consisting of 15 pastels and a very large portrait on enamel by J. E. LIOTARD, the well known Genevese painter. This collection was augmented in 1885 by 6 pastels presented by professor J. W. R. TILANUS, in the name of his wife, Mrs. TILANUS, née LIOTARD.

After this period of depression which, as stated above, lasted about 45 years, the history of the Museum becomes brighter reading. The new era was inaugurated in 1874, when Minister GEERTSEMA appointed a commission of Inquiry into the state of Monuments and Fine Arts. And, in the following year, by the establishment, at the Home Office, of a department of Arts and Science by Minister HEEMSKERK. The Secretary and moving spirit of this commission was Jhr. V. E. L. DE STUERS, to whose incontestable talents and unflinching energy it was greatly due that the Museum then entered upon a stage of brilliant growth and vitality. From that time forth the State began to make regular and yearly purchases, and in this way the collection speedily increased in number and value. The plans for the erection of new buildings were now actively pushed forward and their construction commenced in 1877.

The first additions of any importance were made in 1879 and 1880. They comprised among others: "Prince Maurice of Orange at the kermesse of Ryswyck", by ADRIAEN VAN DE VENNE, for which £ 680 was paid; the "Old Woman in Meditation", by GABRIEL METZU, bought for £ 515, and the "Adoration of the Magi", by JAN MOSTAERT. Other valuable purchases followed, a. o. "The Portrait of Admiral Tromp and his wife", by JAN LIEVENS and the "Portrait of Admiral de Liefde", by B. VAN DER HELST, acquired in 1884. In the mean time the State was nobly supported by the "Rembrandt Society", an association of artists which also had been called into existence, in 1883, through the untiring efforts of Jhr. DE STUERS. This society assisted the State with loans and even with very important donations.

The laudable example given by the State induced many lovers of Art to contribute their share to the growth of the Gallery. In 1880 it received a most valuable collection of pictures from the Bequest of Jhr. J. S. H. VAN DE POLL. This collection consisted of 52 works by the most famous masters, such as REMBRANDT, PAULUS POTTER and T. DE KEYSER. The following year its treasures were increased by another Bequest, made to the town of Amsterdam, by Mrs. VAN WINTER née BICKER, and further, in 1884, by that of 26 family-portraits having belonged to Jhr. J. H. F. R. VAN SWINDEREN. The village of Naaldwijk sent on loan six portraits dating from the XV century, representing the Lords of that place; and Mr. H. VAN DER LEE bequeathed to the Museum a large frame containing portraits of the Lords of Montfort, also dating from the XV century.

The collection of pictures in the "Trippenhuis" thus increased so rapidly that their removal to larger premises became a matter of urgency. The new buildings were at last completed in 1885 and in the early part of the same year the following collections were transferred to the new gallery:

1. The collections from the "Trippenhuis" comprising 888 pictures;
2. The national collection of modern paintings from the Pavilion "Welgelegen" at Harlem, 190 in number;
3. The collection of the Society founded in Amsterdam for the purpose of opening to the public a Gallery of contemporaneous Art, composed of 47 pictures which, in the course of the following ten years, increased to 81. (This collectoin was transferred in 1895 to the "Stedelijk Museum" (Town Museum);
4. The collection presented by the town of Amsterdam, consisting of 115 paintings, being for the greater part representations of civic and military corporations, formerly in the Town Hall and other public buildings. This collection comprised several other works as well as the so-called "anatomical pictures" which had belonged to the Surgeons' Guild;
5. The collection A. VAN DER HOOP: 224 pictures bequeathed to the town of Amsterdam in 1854, which till then had been exhibited in the "Oumanhuispoort";
6. The collection of Jhr. J. S. R. VAN DE POLL of Arnhem, a series of 35 family portraits, some of which painted by FRANS HALS and BARTH. VAN DER HELST;
7. The collection of the Royal Archeological Society, consisting of 34 pictures, given in loan to the Museum. Part of this collection is exhibited in the gallery proper and part in the rooms exclusively reserved for the works acquired by the said Society;
8. 41 pictures sent from the Store room of the Royal cabinet of paintings at The Hague;
9. The collection of the Dutch Museum, 122 in number, including 25 family portraits bequeathed by Jhr. DE WITTE VAN CITTERS.

These works, however, could not be exhibited all at once. Some of them, especially those mentionned in the two last catagories, were in a very bad state of preservation or of too little artistic value to be admitted in the gallery; they were provisionnally put aside. At the time of the opening of the new Museum, the board of management had already conceived the plan of placing in separate divisions the historical pictures, the portraits and, as far as possible, the works of the Modern School.

The opening ceremony of the new Museum took place on the 13th July 1885.

Under the new and excellent conditions the collection could now be appreciated at its true worth; it excited a daily increasing interest and speedily grew in extent by numerous acquisitions.

The following are some of the most notable purchases made: Portraits bij Santvoort and Elias, bought in 1886 at the ALEWIJN sale; the painting called: "The architect and his family", by BERNHARD FABRITIUS, also acquired in the same year; the "Letter", by JOH. VERMEER, purchased in 1893 with the pecuniary assistance of the "Rembrandt-Society" and Mr. J. VAN LENNEP; the "White Horse", by PH. WOUWERMAN and the "Old Church of Delft", by ABR. HOUCKGEEST, acquired in 1893 and both from the collection MESSCHERT VAN VOLLENHOVEN; a small triptych from the beginning of the XVI century, bought at the Spitzer auction rooms (1893); the "Portrait of ADR. HANNEMAN", painted by himself, bought in 1894; the "Jolly Toper", by JUDITH LEYSTER, and the "Sermon in the Church", by LUCAS VAN LEYDEN, both acquired in 1897; the "Leavetaking of Mary", bought in 1898. The same year the Museum acquired, at the sale G. DE CLERCQ, seven pictures by well-known artists, a. o. JAN HACKAERT, EM. MURANT and ADR. VAN DE WERFF, — besides 34 paintings having formed part of the said collection.

Amongst other valuable acquisitions, the "Stone Bridge", by REMBRANDT, bought in 1900 by the aid of the Society which bears the painter's name and Mr. A. BREDIUS, deserves a special mention. Besides this famous picture the Museum acquired in the same year "A merry party", by ANT. PALAMEDESZ and, in 1901, the "Warrior's farewell", by T. VAN ANRAADT. In 1902 the Gallery was enriched by the "Mount Calvary" of JAC. CORN. VAN OOSTSANEN; in 1903 by the fine landscape of VAN GOYEN: "A panorama in Guelders"; in 1904 by the „Moonlight Scene" of A. VAN DER NEER, the "Adoration of the Magi", by GERARD DE SAINT-JEAN, the "Blacksmith", by GABRIEL METSU and the portraits of PIETER DE LA COURT and his wife, by ABRAHAM VAN DEN TEMPEL.

However, the purchases made by the Museum were not confined to old masters: it also acquired a few works by contemporaneous artists. Between 1886 and 1889, specimens of modern art, such as "Light Artillery", by G. H. BREITNER; "A bit of town", by JACOB MARIS and "In the month of July", by P. J. C. GABRIËL, found a place in the Gallery.

In the meantime the Museum had received some important additions through bequests and loan collections. Between 1883 and 1895 Mr. A. BREDIUS showed himself a generous lover of Art, by the donation of 42 pictures. From the heirs of Mr. DE BRUYN KOPS it received in 1888 six paintings and in the course of a few years, Jhr. DE STUERS presented ten valuable works. In 1887 Mr. WILLET gave several choice pictures (a. o. a "St. Sebastian" by an Italian Master), and the family ROYAARDS five large paintings by FERD. BOL.

The existing loan collection from the town of Amsterdam was also augmented by 52 pictures, including paintings of civic and military corporations; the collection formerly the property of the Society "Felix Meritis", now defunct, a. o. the celebrated picture of NIC. MAES: "Saying Grace"; two portraits by FRANS HALS, presented to the town by Messrs. P. DE CLERCQ and P. VAN EEGHEN, in 1892; an "Interior", by GABRIEL METSU; "Flowers and Fruit", the masterpiece of JAN VAN HUYSUM; the "Sandy Lane", by JACOB VAN RUISDAEL, and the "Herring Seller", by ADR. VAN OSTADE, the gift of Mrs. MESSCHERT VAN VOLLENHOVEN, née VAN LENNEP; in 1893, the "Portrait of Louis Jacques Veltman", by JOZEF ISRAËLS; the "Dam at Amsterdam", by JAN VAN DER HEYDEN, presented by Mr. J. F. VAN LENNEP; in 1895, a "Still Life", by ABR. MIGNON, and the "Farm-yard", by MELCH. D'HONDECOETER, a donation from the children of Mr. C. P. VAN EEGHEN.

In 1897 the Museum received in loan, from the family VAN WEEDE, a "Portrait of a Woman" by REMBRANDT, also a portrait by CASP. NETSCHER; from the family HELWEG, a portrait painted by JOZEF ISRAËLS, and from Mr. POTT a work by G. H. BREITNER; Mr. F. H. WENTE lent four old masters and two modern pictures; Mr. J. F. R. M. DE NERÉE VAN BABBERICH, six paintings, Baron TH. COLLOT D'ESCURY, a series of family portraits, amongst which are works of J. A. VAN RAVESTEYN, ADR. HANNEMAN, CORN. JANSON VAN CEULEN, AERT DE GELDER and Mr. B. I. D. ZUBLI, pictures by JAN VROLIJK and THEOPH. DE BOCK and a water-colour drawing by SEGANTINI. The Board of Guardians of the Mennonite Church gave in 1899 on loan a series of nine portraits, and Mr. P. W. VAN DOORNINCK, in 1901 lent two fine portraits by GERARD TER BORCH; Mr. J. B. WESTERWOUDT sent ten modern printings which, together with the 17 lent before, made a valuable collection of modern Art, almost entirely the work of Dutch painters. Finally Mr. J. C. J. DRUCKER sent on loan a magnificent collection of oil paintings and water colours of the most renowned artists of the modern Dutch school: ANTON MAUVE, JACOB MARIS, WILLEM MARIS, ALMA TADEMA, ALB. NEUHUYS, J. H. WEISSENBRUCH.

The bequest made in 1898 by Mr. D. FRANKEN DZN., consisted of 49 pictures comprising 10 works of ADR. VAN DE VENNE, and that of Baron R. VAN LYNDEN, made in 1899, of 39 paintings of the modern school and 4 old masters. In the following year, his widow, the Baroness VAN LYNDEN, née VAN PALLANDT, made a donation of 45 pictures by the most famous painters of the modern Dutch and French schools, which had been collected by her late husband. (This is the most important donation which has been made to the Museum during the life-time of the donor). The last important donation made to the Museum is a large family group, by ABR. VAN DER TEMPEL, presented by Mr. WILLINK VAN BENNEBROEK.

We terminate this long list by the mention of the bequest made in 1903 by Mrs. INSINGER, née VAN LOON, consisting of four paintings from the brush of J. ASSELYN, GERARD DE LAIRESSE, J. VAN OCHTERVELT and THOMAS WYCK, and that of Mr. A. A. DES TOMBE of 23 works of old and modern schools, whilst the Museum also received in the same year the second part of DE WITTE VAN CITTERS' bequest, consisting of 23 portraits.

Through this steady increase of Art treasures, the want of better accommodation made itself daily more felt, especially when in 1898 and 1900, the FRANKEN and VAN LYNDEN bequests had been added to the Gallery. Fortunately about that time the S. W. wing of the Museum called: "het Fragmentengebouw" was being completed and in 1900 the greater part of the modern pictures as well as some older works, having reference to Art, Manners, Customs and National Costumes were transferred to the new wing. Here also were placed the so-called Turkish pictures, at one time the property of the Direction of the Levant-Trade, and formed into a separate collection with others from the same source, already in the State Museum.

These pictures and many others had formed part of the Royal Cabinet of curiosities formerly in the "Mauritshuis" at The Hague and in the model-room of the Admiralty.

The collection of enamels and miniatures at present in the Rijks-Museum, are also from the Royal Cabinet having been transferred in 1876 to the State Museum. The greater part of this collection had been the private property of the Stadtholders, which accounts for the fact that it contains so many portraits of the Royal family of England, to which the House of Orange has been so closely allied by marriage. The members of the family of Orange, however, are equally well represented in this collection. Scarcely anything has been added to it by purchase; until 1901 it was on view in the Dutch Museum, and to-day it forms the chief attraction of the historical section of the picture Gallery.

NOTES ON THE ADMINISTRATION.

The first Director of the Museum, Mr. CORNELIS APOSTOOL, was appointed by King Louis, on August 25th 1808. He struggled through the trying period of the French domination, and on the accession of King William I, in September 1814, his appointment was confirmed by Royal warrant. At his death, which occurred 10 February 1844, the painter J. W. PIENEMAN provisionally accepted the vacant post for the term of three years. The alarming report of the new Director on the state of the collections resulted in the nomination of a Commission of Supervision, which held its first meeting in the same year and which counted among its members Messrs. JER. DE VRIES, A. BRONDGEEST and P. E. H. PRAETORIUS. Mr. PIENEMAN having tendered his resignation at the expiration of his stipulated term of office, the Commission of Supervision was dissolved and changed into a Board of Management. This Board, on which the late Director had a seat, undertook the full direction of affairs and the sole charge of the collections, and placed each of the three divisions under the care of a separate Keeper. In 1850, Mr. W. J. M. ENGELBERTS was appointed a Keeper of the collection of pictures. When in 1875, on account of failing health, he was obliged to retire, Mr. J. W. KAISER, who since 1860 had been a member of the Board of Management, became Keeper of the Picture Gallery and Print Room. In 1876 the Board of Management was dissolved and replaced by the present Commission of Supervision.

At his request Mr. J. W. KAISER was relieved of his duties on October 1st 1883 and succeeded by Mr. FR. D. O. OBREEN, who remained in office until his death, 1 November 1896. The vacant place was then filled by Jhr. B. W. F. VAN RIEMSDIJK, first as Director ad interim until 1 October 1901, when he was appointed Director in chief. From 16 February 1897 to 1 March 1898, Mr. C. G. 'T HOOFT acted as assistant-Keeper, and when he vacated his post for another charge, he was replaced by Mr. W. J. STEENHOFF.

Originally the collection of pictures of the modern schools which from 1838 to 1885 was exhibited in the Pavilion "Welgelegen" at Harlem, had been placed under the joint supervision of Mr. M. C. APOSTOOL, Director of the State Museum at Amsterdam, and Jhr. J. STEENGRACHT VAN OOSTCAPELLE, Director of the Royal cabinet of paintings at the Hague, the artist P. G. WESTENBERG acting as resident-Keeper.

Until 1876 the administration of the Pavilion shared the vicissitudes of the Museums of Amsterdam and the Hague. The changes in the council-board of the Museum of Amsterdam have already been mentioned; the following are those of the Royal cabinet of paintings at the Hague: In 1844, the place of Director left vacant by Jhr. STEENGRACHT, was filled by Mr. J. Z. MAZEL, who in 1874 was succeeded by Jhr. J. K. J. DE JONGE. In 1858 Mr. E. KOSTER replaced Mr. WESTENBERG and after the reorganisation of 1876 and the dissolution of the council of administration, Mr. KOSTER was appointed chief Director. He held this appointment until 30 April 1880. On May 1st Mr. C. J. GONNET became Director pro tem and continued at his post until 1 October 1885, when the pictures and other works of art having been transferred from Harlem to the State Museum of Amsterdam, his services had to be dispensed with.

NOTES ON THE BUILDINGS.

The pictures which at present constitute the collection of the Rijks-Museum formerly occupied three distinct buildings, viz. the Royal Palace and "Trippenhuis" at Amsterdam, and for the works of the modern schools, the Pavilion "Welgelegen" at Harlem. In 1808 the Town-Hall of Amsterdam was converted into a Royal Palace and in the same year part of the Building was reserved for the great Royal Museum. This Town-Hall had been erected by order of the corporation, from the architectural designs of Jacob van Campen and under the supervision of Daniel Stalpert. Its construction took seven years; the first pile was driven in the ground on the 20th January 1648, and on April 23d 1655 the magistrates held their first sitting in the new building.

The rooms assigned to the Museum in the Royal palace were the large Hall of the Court-Martial with the adjoining apartments (including the minor Court-Martial) and two closets on the 3d floor, on the west side of the building, where, for many years past, had hung the so-called corporation-pictures derived from the "Doelens." It was on the walls of the minor Court-Martial that, among other works, REMBRANDT'S Nightwatch had been displayed. The Banquet of the Civic Guard, by B. VAN DER HELST and the Fête of the Civic Guard at the conclusion of the Peace of Munster, 1648, bij GOVERT FLINCK, had long decorated those of the large Court-Martial. These three pictures, together with the Heads of the Brotherhood of St. Sebastian, by B. VAN DER HELST, which had hung in another room of the Town-Hall, were left in the Museum of which they proved the principal attraction. The other "corporation pictures" were removed to the new Town-Hall on the "Oudezijds Voorburgwal", formerly the "Prinsenhof".

In 1815 the picture collection of the Museum was transferred to the "Trippenhuis", on the Kloveniersburgwal.

This "Trippenhuis", the palatial residence of the brothers Louis and Hendrick Trip, the great gun-manufacturers, had been built between 1660 and 1662 from the plans of JUSTUS VINGBOOMS. The building consisted of two dwelling-houses connected by a common-hall, hence the appellation "Trippenhuyzen." The house on the North side was inhabited by Hendrick, that on the South side by his brother Louis.

In the course of time, through various circumstances, the residence of the Northside was almost entirely owned by Mr. C. S. Roos, who in 1801 and 1802 opened in it a picture gallery where young artists found an opportunity of completing their studies; another part of it was let to the Royal Institute, for the purpose of holding its meetings.

In 1809 this building was acquired by the State and appropriated to the sittings of the Legislative Assembly and the meetings of the Royal Institute.

For long years the house on the Southside remained the property of the family Trip, who underlet it to several tenants, among others, in 1750, to the celebrated art-collector, GERRIT BRAAMCAMP, who established a picture-gallery within its precincts. In 1771, Mr. LOUIS TRIP DE MAREZ bequeathed his property to the town of Amsterdam, reserving to himself the usufruct until the entire extinction of his family, and appointing as trustee the Orphan's Court, who let the house in succession to various occupiers.

In 1811 the Emperor Napoleon enacted this building to be placed at the disposal of the Institute, an order by which the town was charged with the payment of the rent to the Orphan's Court. The same decree directed the house on the Northside to be installed as a Museum; but the corporation, on whom involved the maintenance of the picture gallery, was loth to comply with this command and very reluctantly instructed the town architect A. VAN DER HART to draw up the plans of modification.

On his accession the Sovereign Prince decided that the control of the Museum should be undertaken by the State and ordered the collection to be transferred to the North house. The necessary works and alterations were at once begun: the two front rooms were converted into one large hall, the backstaircase suppressed and the high chimney pieces removed. When in 1854 the Institute became the Royal Academy of sciences and the annual meetings had first been changed to monthly and, in 1855, to bi-monthly, the position became intolerable, for the meetings were held in the large front-hall, where the most famous pictures of the collection were exhibited. As a result, in 1858 this large hall was again converted into two rooms.

But owing to the steady increase of the collection, the insufficiency of the accomodation of the "Trippenhuis" became daily more apparent. Already in 1834 the Director had complained of the want of space and light, and after the division of the large hall, matters had become worse, — whilst fears were entertained for the safety of the art treasures, in a building for the greater part constructed of combustible materials, situated in the proximity of warehouses containing inflammable substances.

In 1862 a few art lovers at Amsterdam joined hands and formed themselves into a committee for the furtherance of all preliminary measures connected with the erection of a new Museum. In the same year, Mr. Thorbecke, then Minister of the Interior, declared himself, in the Second Chamber of the States-General, fully in favour of the project of the committee, which was duly constituted in 1863 and entered at once upon the duties connected with the foundation of the "Museum Willem I." They hoped to see the actual work of building commence immediately after the fêtes then to be held in commemoration of Holland having been raised to a Kingdom, fifty years ago.

The committee, who had been led to expect substantial aid from the State, opened a competition inviting plans and tenders for the new building. By the 16th of February 1864, twenty-one designs had been sent in, but none were considered suitable. A first prize was awarded to Messrs. Ludwig and Emil Lange, of Munich, and a second prize to Mr. P. J. H. Cuypers, of Roermond, but the majority of the jury voted against the acceptance of either of these. Thereupon Mr. A. N. Godefroy, one of the members of the jury, was requested to draw a new plan, but he soon relinquished his task on the plea that the sum placed at his disposal was inadequate. The committee then charged Mr. L. H. Eberson to prepare other plans.

These designs were submitted to the Minister of the Interior who, having been advised upon them by Messrs. J. J. Metzelaar and E. Gugel, pronounced against them. They were then altered and simplified, but to no purpose.

Although the town of Amsterdam had already granted to the committee the required ground for building, the subvention promised by the State was still in abeyance. It was not until 4 December 1872 that Mr. S. van Houten, in moving an amendment on the budget, pointed out in the Second Chamber that it was the duty of the Government to build a Museum and to break with the deplorable system of leaving this task to private initiative or to the town of Amsterdam: this motion was adopted almost unanimously, with but one dissenting voice.

As soon as this decision had become kwown the town of Amsterdam pledged itself to provide a plot of ground, besides a sum of f 100.000. The corporation also promised to give in loan to the new Museum the pictures belonging to the town.

Then, after the appointment, in 1874, of the Commission to enquire into the state of historical monuments and arts, due to Minister Mr. C. C. GEERTSEMA, and the establishment, in 1875, of a department of Arts and Sciences at the Home Office, by Minister J. HEEMSKERK Az., matters were taken seriously in hand.

The architects P. J. H. CUYPERS, L. H. EBERSON and H. P. VOGEL were invited to draw up new plans from instructions given by the Commission. The jury voted unanimously for the adoption of the plan of Mr. Cuypers, who by Royal Warrant of 12 July 1876 was appointed architect of the new buildings.

The work of erection then proceeded without interruption, and on 13 July 1885 the opening ceremony, presided over by Minister HEEMSKERK, took place in the presence of H. R. H. Princess MARIE OF THE NETHERLANDS, and her husband, PRINCE VON WIED.

In 1898 the premises were considerably enlarged by the construction of the "Fragmentengebouw" and the erection, in the grounds of the Museum, of a building as a preparatory School of Drawing. In this building were placed the paintings executed by JAN VAN SCOREL for the choir of the church of "Warmenhuizen".

In the historical account of the collections, p. XIII, mention has been made of the Pavilion "Welgelegen" at Harlem, which from 1838 to 1885 served as a Gallery for the National Collection of pictures of the Modern Schools. This Pavilion, known by the name of "Huis van Hope", a construction in the Italian style of architecture, had been built in 1788 for HENRI HOPE, the great banker at Amsterdam. It is situated in the Dreef, at the entrance of the Harlemmerhout (Wood of Harlem).

In 1808 King LOUIS acquired this demesne for the sum of f 300.000 and on the 1st July 1810 he there signed the act by which he renounced the throne.

When in 1814 the country had shaken off the French rule, the Pavilion was placed at the disposal of the Dowager Princess, widow of Prince WILLIAM V, née Princess FREDERICA-SOPHIA-WILHELMINA OF PRUSSIA, who occupied it until her death in 1820, with her daughter, the Dowager Duchess of BRUNSWICK-LUNEBURG, née Princess FREDERICA-LOUISE-WILHELMINA OF ORANGE.

In 1828, by order of King WILLIAM I, the Pavilion was transformed into a picture-gallery. The necessary alterations were entrusted to the architect I. D. ZOCHER, from the plans designed by T. F. SUYS; but owing to the political disturbances in Belgium the work made but slow progress. The required modifications were not completed until 1837 and the inauguration of the Gallery took place 9 August 1838.

In 1885 the entire collection was transferred to the State Museum.

In the centre: The stoning to death of St. Stephen and a symbolic image of the frailty of life. On the right hand side, Mary Magdalen in the garden of the Sepulchre; on the left hand side: Mary the Egyptian in the desert.

Central panel: O. 23 by 28¾ in., side piece 23 by 15¼ in., h. f. 8¾ in. On the frieze the following inscription: "hvivs altaris dedicatio altera pasche celebrator". On the base, between the coat of arms of van Schadewyck or van Schayck and van Zas or van Sasse: "Altare praesens anno 1532 consecratvm in lavdem Dei omnipotentis et ejvs genitricis Marie Virginis ac sanctorvm Stephani, Marie Magdalene, Marie egiptiace, omnivmqve sanctorvm svo Arnestvs Scaijck a Canonicvs hoc decoravit epitaphio anno 1554". — We learn from the inscription that this altar piece was erected in 1554 by Ernst van Schayck, vicar and afterwards Canon of the St. Peter's Church at Utrecht. He was born after 1500 and died 3 Jan. 1564. Although he had sprung from a family of artists — his father was a carver of images and there were several painters of the same name — we cannot positively assume this altar piece to have been the work of his hands. From the St. Peter's Church, at Utrecht. Presented to the Museum through the kind offices of the keeper of records of the Province of Utrecht, in 1874.

55a. Altar piece. In the centre a basso-relievo in marble representing Christ on the cross, and the two malefactors, in a wooden frame of rich workmanship, painted blue and gold. HALEN (Arnoud van), painted at Amsterdam, where he was buried 22 July 1732. M.
This artist was at the same time the originator and the collector of the Panpoëticon Batavum, a collection of 328 small portraits of Dutch poets nearly all in grisaille. Before the year 1719, van Halen had already brought together 200 of these portraits, which, with few exceptions, he had copied from wellknown engravings. The collection came successively in the possession of Michael de Roode, of Arnoud de Jongh and of the Society: "Kunst wordt door Arbeid verkregen" of Leyden, and in time a few more specimens were added. At an auction which took place 9 April 1818 in the "Huis met de Hoofden", at Amsterdam, the collection went for 605 guilders and soon after was scattered. Mr. A. J. Enschedé, when in Venice, came across 74 of the portraits, which he bought for the Dntch Museum in 1880; this number rose by later purchases to 77 and was further enriched by the portrait of Arnoud van Halen by himself, comprised in the bequest of Mr. D. Franken Dz., in 1898. (A few specimens of the collection were recently sold in Lisbon and fetched very high prices). Of the portraits at present in the possession of the State Museum, 50 are painted by Arn. van Halen; 22 by Jan Maurits Quinckhardt (see from No. 1947 to 1968); 3 by Dionys van Nymegen (see Nos. 1773—1775); 1 by Nicolaas Reyers (see No. 2027) and 1 representing A. van Royen by an unknown artist (see No. 282). The 77 portraits are arranged in groups of 11 on 7 panels. The back of these panels bears a wax seal affixed by the Academy of Art of Venice.

The numbers 1979 to 2008 (O. 12 by 10 in., mean h. h. 6 in., bust) formerly in the castle of Honselaarsdijk, were transferred to the National Museum at the Hague and from there, in 1808, to the Amsterdam Museum, with the principal works of the collection to which they belonged. With regard to the portraits of Gaspard de Coligny and the Earl of Leicester (Nos. 1996 and 1997), we only know that they were at one time in the National Museum. In all probability they formed part of the above mentioned collection, being in every respect similar in size and manner of treatment to the other portraits. The following Nos. belong to this series: 177—185, 249, 956—958, 1242, 1596—1600, 1662.

Studied also under the direction of Pieter Lastman at Amsterdam, where he resided until his death and was buried 8 October 1669. Mentioned by Buchel among the painters in 1621. E.

2016. The "Nightwatch", or The Company of Captain Frans Banning Cocq and of Lieutenant Willem van Ruytenburg. The corps is represented in broad daylight, leaving the "Doelen" of the Arquebusiers. At their head, standing in the foreground about the centre, are the Captain and the Lieutenant conversing together. The former wears a dark dress, the latter a yellow costume with a white sash causing a brilliant effect of light. Near the Captain, also standing out in full light, is a little girl, a dead white cock hanging from her waistband. On a modillion suspended from a cornice in the background are inscribed the names of the persons represented: Frans Banning Cock, captain; Willem van Ruytenberg, lieutenant; Jan Cornelisz. Visscher, standard-bearer; Rombout Kemp and Reinier Engel, sergeants; Barent Harmsz.; Jan Adriaensz. Keyser; Hendrick Willemsz.; Jan Claesz. Leydecker; Jan Ockersen; Jan Pietersen Bronckhorst; Harmen Jacobsz. Verraken; Jacob Dirksen de Boog; Jan van der Hard; Johan Schellinger; Jan Brinkman; Jan van Kampoort, drummer. 2018. The anatomical Lecture of Professor Joan Deyman (1620—1666). Fragment of the picture which was for the greater part destroyed by fire on 8th November 1723 and sold in England in 1811. The corpse, part of whose cranium has been removed, is seen much foreshortened, with the feet towards the spectator. The abdominal cavity has been laid open and partly covered with a white cloth. To the left of the subject stands the amenuensis Gijsbrecht Matthijsz. Calckoen, holding in his hand the removed part of the skull. Over the head of the corpse are seen the hands of Professor Deyman in the act of demonstrating. In the background, scarcely visible, the hand of a third person.
C. 39½ by 52¾ in., nat. size. Signed to the left, on the table:

In order to give to this fragment a regular shape, a strip of card board, a little over 5 inches, has been joined at the top, on which Professor Wijnveld has painted the head of Professor Deyman and the background. Formerly in the Anatomical Hall at Amsterdam. VANMOUR (Jean-Baptiste) or Van Mour 1), born at Valenciennes, 9 January 1671; died 22 January 1737, at Constantinopel, where he had settled in 1699, probably at the invitation of the French Ambassador, de Ferriol.

This artist painted for several of the Legations, and for private people, numerous pictures illustrating with the utmost fidelity, the habits and customs of the Levant, at the beginning of the XVIII century. The Dutch Ambassador, Cornelis Calkoen (1727—1744), collected them and they were bequeathed by his nephew, Nicolaas Calkoen, to the Board of Management of the trade with the Levant, at Amsterdam. The bequest was made in accordance with the wish of his uncle who had directed that the pictures should be placed in the Board-room of the Town-Hall and be provided with an inscription mentioning the services rendered to the commerce with the Levant during his term of office. 2) After the dissolution of the Company in 1826, the collection, with a few other paintings belonging to this body, were transferred in January 1827 to the Royal Cabinet of Curiosities at the Hague. At the closing of this exhibition, the collection was divided between the National Ethnographical Museum and the Dutch Museum. Since 1903 the pictures have again been gathered together and a special room allotted for their exhibition. The collection (Nos. 2364—2430) comprises original pictures by Van Mour, copies or imitations of his works and a few so-called "Turkish pictures", formerly the property of the above-mentioned Company.

ANONYMOUS WORKS OF THE GERMAN SCHOOL.

a. XV century (second half).

17a Christ before Pilate. The Saviour is standing in front of a clamorous crowd of soldiers and scribes who bring accusations against him. Frankish School about 1480.
Pine 30¼ by 24½ in., h. f. 29¼ in. This picture is one of a series of works of which the others, still known to be in existence, are a "Christ bearing the Cross", in the possession of Herr von Kaufmann, at Berlin, and a "Flagellation" formerly in the collection Stache, at Vienna. (From a communication by Dr. Max J. Friedländer). Lent 1907.

17b. The Negro-King with his attendant. Mountainous landscape. The servant, in respectful attitude, is handing the King a goblet in the shape of a horn. Fragment of an "Adoration" forming part of No. 17 c. Lower Rhenish School, date about 1480.
O. 15¾ by 9½ in. Lent 1907.

17c. One of the Three Magi. The figure, painted to the waist, is standing in a mountainous landscape. In his right hand he holds a gilded goblet; with his left he is pointing to heaven. Fragment of an "Adoration" forming part of No. 17 b. Lower Rhenish School, date about 1480.
O. 10½ by 8¼ in., h. f. 2 in. Lent 1907.

17d. The Annunciation. The Virgin Mary, kneeling before a lettern, is looking up at the angel standing before her with a staff in his hand from which floats a bandrol. Among the furniture in the room are a bed and a dresser with a dish containing fruit. The figure of God the Father is seen hovering above the clouds. The sky is entirely painted in gold. South German School, date about 1490.
Pine 40½ by 1 yd, h. f. 27½ in. Lent 1907.

17e. Mount Calvary. Christ in the agony of death. On the left are the Virgin Mary, fainting, St John and the holy women. On the right the soldiers and the scribes. The sky, as well as the halo round the heads of the Saints, is painted in gold. South Bavarian School, date about 1490.
Limewood 48½ by 40½ in., h. f. 28¼ in. Lent 1907.

About 1500.

17f. Mount Calvary. Christ on the cross between the two murderers. In the foreground the Virgin Mary, who has fainted, is being supported by two of the disciples. Groups of women and other persons are crowding at the foot of the cross. South German School, date about 1500.
C. In tempera 18 by 12½ in., h. f. 6¾ in. Lent 1907.

17g. The descent from the cross. Two men, standing on ladders, holding a white sheet between them, are taking down the body of Christ from the cross. In the foreground, the Virgin Mary in a faint is being supported by St. John; Mary Magdalen is lying at the foot of the cross, with her arms round the fatal wood. School of Suabia, date about 1500.
Pine 16½ by 10 in., h. f. 9½ in. Lent 1907.

ANONYMOUS WORKS OF THE FRENCH SCHOOL.

c. XVIII century (middle).

ANONYMOUS WORKS OF THE DUTCH SCHOOL.

A. RELIGIOUS SUBJECTS.

c. XV century (second half).

43a. The burial of a Patriarch. In a garden, walled in by high buildings, is an open grave in which lies the body covered with his pontificals. Four canons of the order of St. Augustin are kneeling by the grave, two on each side. Standing behind them are their tutelary Saints: St. Jerome on the left and St. Augustin on the right. On a seat, behind the grave, are the holy women, Mary and Elizabeth. At the back of the garden the Madonna is seated on the turf and the Holy Child, surrounded by angels, playing musical instruments, is riding a hobby-horse. This picture forms a link with No. 43: "The Mother of God surrounded by four women."

O. 32¾ by 41¼ in., h. f. 18 in. Purchased through the Rembrandt Society from F. Kleinberger, Paris 1907.

45a. The History of St. Elizabeth of Hungary in four scenes, corresponding with the descriptive text on the panel. Painted about 1500.

O. 32½ by 24 in., h. f. 7½ in. Bought at the sale Roos & Co., 1906.

B. VARIOUS.

d. XVII century (first half).

82a. Still life. Displayed on a table are an artichoke cut in two, some dishes and bowls of blue porcelain containing strawberries, cherries and mulberries, two glasses partly filled, a silver sugar basin of artistic design and a knife. Date about 1610.

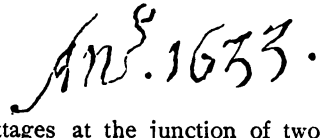
O. 18¼ by 31 in., real size. In loan, 1907.

104a. Vanitas. A study of still life composed of several books, a candlestick and a skull, grouped on a table covered with a green cloth.

O. 29 by 27½ in.

On a sheet of paper, the date:

Bequest J. B. Westerwoudt, 1907.



107a. Landscape. A few scattered cottages at the junction of two country lanes, in a hilly, sandy tract of land.

O. 13½ by 19 in. In loan, 1907.

108a. The mill. It stands in the centre of a flat landscape, by the side of a sheet of water on which is seen a boat with two fishermen; in the distance, to the left, the upper part of a church appears above the trees.

C. 35 by 43 in. Wrongly signed with the monogram of Jacob van Ruisdael. In loan, 1907.

108b. The sleeping woman. A young woman lying backward in a chair, her head inclined towards the right shoulder. She holds a distaff in her hand. The figure is painted to the knees.
C. 13¾ by 7¼ in., h. h. 3 in. In loan, 1907.

108c. The butcher's wife. She is seated by the hearth, with her arms crossed over her bosom. The whole figure is in profile. A chopping block stands by her side and an hour-glass is hanging against the wall.
O. 19¾ by 15¾ in., h. h. 3¼ in. In loan, 1907.

112a. A study of still life. On a table, covered with a Persian cloth, are tastefully arranged a nautilus cup, a goblet, a glass of beer, a dish with peaches, and a chased silver dish containing sweetmeats. Painted in the style of Willem Kalff.
C. 44¼ by 37¼ in., real size. In loan, 1907.

112b. Still life. The group includes lemons and various other fruits, partly lying on a blue dish; a chased silver bowl, goblets, a gold cup and a large jar of blue porcelain, — all on a table covered with a thick Oriental cloth.
C. 52 by 53½ in., real size. In loan, 1907.

112c. A study of still life. A jug of Frankish ware, some plates and dishes, with a cut ham and some fruit, on a table laid with a white cloth.
C. 54 by 42½ in., real size. In loan, 1907.

112d. Still life. A marble tray holding a basin of China porcelain standing on a chased silver dish; a nautilus cup, glass goblets, an orange, a lemon partly peeled and an Oriental cloth hanging down.

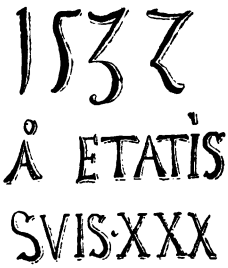
D. PORTRAITS.

b. XVI century (first half).



142a Portrait of a man of quality, date 1532. Half length figure, turned towards the right. In one of his hands he holds an apple. Behind him is a gate-way. Probably the work of Jacob van Utrecht (Jacob Trajectensis).
O. 13¾ by 10¼ in., h. h. 3¾ in. On the right hand side of the gate is the inscription:
In loan, 1907.

ANONYMOUS WORKS OF THE FLEMISH SCHOOL.

XV century (second half).

340a. The Descent from the Cross. The dead Christ is being lowered in the arms of his mother. Copy from a lost original, probably by Rogier van der Weyden. Many similar copies are met with in Bruges. The composition forms the central part of a triptych. On the doors is an inscription in gold on black.
O. 19½ by 11¾ in., h. h. 4¼ in. Lent 1907.

340b. The Madonna with the Holy Child at the breast. The half length figure is represented seated in the embrasure of a window before which hangs a drapery of gold coloured velvet. An imitation of a well-known work of Rogier van der Weyden.
O. 14½ by 11¼ in., h. h. 4¼ in. In loan, 1907.

341a. The Nativity. The Virgin Mary, Joseph and another woman, with several angels, are kneeling in adoration before the child, which is lying in the midst of the group on the floor. On the left, a view of the stable. The background surrounding the figures is painted in gold. This work probably belongs to the South-Netherland School.
O. 37½ by 37 in., h. f. kneeling, 14½ in. In loan, 1907.

XVI century (first half).

346a. The Holy Family with angels playing musical instruments. In the garden of a castle of magnificent structure, ornamented with much sculpture, the Madonna is seated on a stone bench. View of a mountainous landscape in the distance. This picture is a copy of a painting in the Royal palace at Lisbon, done by a much better artist. The work belongs to the South-Netherland School and its probable date is 1520 (communication from Dr. Max J. Friedländer).
O. 41¾ by 32½ in., h. h. 33½ in. In loan, 1907.

346b. Mourning the dead Christ. The weeping women, St. John and another man are standing around the body of Christ which, lying on a white sheet, is being supported by Joseph of Arimathea. Rocky landscape. Probably a work of Cornelis Matsijs.
O. 23½ by 19¾ in., h. f. 12½ in. In loan, 1907.

XVI century (second half).

349a. The baker of Eelco. The master and his men are busily engaged in cutting off the heads of those of his customers who may desire it and provide them with another one. The removed part of the body is for the time being supplemented by a white cabbage whilst the head is being rebaked in the oven. The patients are seated in armchairs in the foreground. Several persons are seen entering the bakery from the street.
O. 11¾ by 15½ in., h. f. 5½ in. Various copies exist of this work. Purchased in 1883.

351a. Philip II, King of Spain. Bust, turned towards the right.
C. 22½ by 17¼ in., life size.
Dated at the top, on the left: ✖ 1557 ✖
In loan, 1907.

351b. Portrait of a man of rank. Seen to the shoulders, the head turned towards the right.
O. 13½ by 10¼ in., life size. In loan, 1907.

XVII century (beginning).

357a. View of a town on a river, spanned by a bridge. On the right a church and on the left a chapel. In the foreground, on the right-hand side of the picture, a lady and gentleman on horseback are riding towards the town. Several small crafts are lying on each bank of the river. Date about 1630.

O. 27½ by 41¾ in., h. f. 4 in. Lent 1907.

XVII century (middle).

357b. Landscape with dead birds. A turkey is hanging head downwards from a branch. Various kinds of small birds are scattered over the rocks. A cock is lying in the foreground. A cat is seen sneaking away towards the distance. Painted in the manner of Pieter Boel.
C. 41¼ by 50½ in., real size. In loan, 1907.

357c. Dead game. Landscape scenery. A hare suspended from a tree. Dead birds, a large crab and oysters lying on the rocks. Painted in the manner of Pieter Boel.
C. 41¼ by 50½ in., nat. size. In loan. 1907.

C. 17 by 22 in., nat size. In loan, 1907.

ANONYMOUS WORKS OF UNDETERMINED SCHOOL.

359a. Christ on the Cross. On his right are the Virgin Mary, the Holy Women and St. John; on his left the noisy and jeering soldiers and scribes. On each side of the composition is the figure of a Saint much larger in size than the other figures, St. Cosme on the left and St. Damian on the right. The first-named saint is indicated by the inscription underneath: S. cosme. — Mountainous scenery in the distance. This work may probably be ascribed to the Catalonian School, date about 1440.
O. in tempera, 61½ by 61½ in., h. f. (Christ) 32¾ in. In loan, 1907.

359b. The martyrdom of St. Hippolytus. The Saint, represented as a youth, is standing by the side of a soldier and obliged to witness the beheading of all the members of his family. Mountainous scenery. Painted about 1480.
Pinewood 55 by 33½ in., h. f. 33½ in. Lent 1907.

ANTONELLO DA MESSINA, born in Messina about 1414, died at Venice about 1479. Worked at Messina, but principally at Venice.

367a. Portrait of a young man. The beardless face is turned towards the left; the curling hair has a golden tint. He wears a cap of some dark material with a lappet hanging from it and a dress of sombre colour. (Attributed to the above).
Poplar wood 11 by 8 in., h. h. 6¼ in.
The face has been restored in several places. In loan, 1907.

BAKHUYZEN (Julius Jacobus van de Sande). See p. 50.

422a. The water-mill. The mill is seen on the opposite side of the water, sharply defined against the sky, standing by the side of a group of large trees.
C. 22 by 29¼ in. Signed in the left corner, at the bottom: J. van de Sande Bakhuyzen. Bequest J. B. Westerwoudt, 1907.

BALTEN (Pieter) or Pieter de Coster, or Custodis. See p. 51.

425a, The country fair. Bird's eye view of a market square. In the centre a large tent round which the holiday-makers are crowding. A few stately burghers are standing by as spectators. A procession is seen moving on the left.
O. 45 by 61¾ in., h. f. 6¾ in. In loan, 1907.

BAUER (Mari A. J.). Born at the Hague, Jan. 25th 1862. A pupil of the School of Art of that town and of S. van Witsen, the friend of Josef Israëls. In 1885 he went to Constantinople and afterwards visited Egypt, Spain and Hindostan. Is residing at the present time at Aerdenhout, near Zandvoort. E.

438a. Ambir Palace in Hindostan. Standing on a rock. Clouded sky.
C. 19 by 31½ in. Signed at the bottom to the left: A. Bauer.
Bequest J. B. Westerwoudt, 1907.

BEGA (Cornelis Pietersz.). See p. 56.
